RECALLINGS. A cheerful, broading sweep of mornbright Wherewith brown meadow larks bless June warm days.
Comes wafted to me o'er the frosty haze.
And brings a lost rose sweetness; gune so long—

The years bend back to make remembrance strong;
As boatmen, in the rush of river ways
Will rearward thrust an oar that boidly plays
To swerve the skift from eddles that turn But, oh, when day faints and is like to die, when day faints and is like to die, what trust steals on the wind's low, joitering sigh, Which soles to meet the shadow-mantled dusk!

And then the valediction, deep and dim. of pine wrought choir lofts filled with forest musk.

Where rolden lamps lift high their vesper hymn!

-William Struthers, in Boston Transcript.

THE ROSE BEYOND THE WALL. ear a shady wall a rose once grew. Budded and bloomed in God's free light.
Watered and fed by the morning dew.
Shedding its sweetness day and night. As it grew and blossomes, fair and tall. Slowly rising to loftier beight. It came to a crevice in the wall, Through which there shone a beam of light.

Onward it crept with added strength.
With never a thought of fear or pride.
And it followed the light through the previoe's length.
And unfoided itself on the other side. The light, the dow, the broadening view,
Were found the same as they were before:
It lost itself in the beauties new,
Breathing its fragrance more and

Scattering fragrance far and wide.

Just as it did on days of vore;

Just as it did on the other side.

Just as it will forevermore.

as executrix. The estate will probably amount to a few thousand dollars, it is estimated.

The will was dated Nov. 12, 1920, and was in Miss Goodell's own handwriting and was witnessed by Edith M. Dodge. Arthur M. Brown and Charles V. James.

In part, the will says:

"First—I direct that all my just debts and funeral expenses shall be paid out of my estate by my executrix and a suitable monument shall be erected over my grave and upon it shall be graven the pet name of 'Lessie' that my moiner gave me and by which H have always been known as follows (Lessie N. Goodell). I wish my body to be laid near my father's and mother's in the cemetery at North Belchertown, Mass.

"Second—Immediately after my death, my pet cats, if I have any at that time, shall be chloroformed by a veterinary surgeon, and tenderly placed in a box." The institute would be added to the morning and afternoon session. Professor Jones of Storrs college addressed the gathering on the problem of growing young stock and also spoke of the use of artificial light in increasing egg production, Can Brown of this city spoke on the use of electric lights in egg production. Prof. L.G. Davis of Storrs college addressed the poultrymen on the cooperative marketing of eggs. Other speakers, at the morning session were Fred Kanahan of Norwich, W. W. Service of Preston and Merton Bartlett of Griswold.

At the afternoon session there were three addresses by representatives of three poultry clubs in the country. Ray Holdridge spoke for the Ledyard Poultry club and Mrs. H. H. Lelland of Waterford for the Waterford Poultry club.
